We know you have hopes and dreams. Maybe they’re specific. Maybe you’re just formulating them. When it comes to your future, we’re clear about this: we want you to graduate from Brescia prepared to lead. Whether that’s as the president of your own company, as an active volunteer in your community, or as a parent in your own home, we are confident your Brescia education will provide you with the tools you need to lead in a way that is unique to you.

Colleen M. Hanycz, Ph.D.
Principal, Brescia University College

Choose to Lead.

We know you have hopes and dreams. Maybe they’re specific. Maybe you’re just formulating them. When it comes to your future, we’re clear about this: we want you to graduate from Brescia prepared to lead. Whether that’s as the president of your own company, as an active volunteer in your community, or as a parent in your own home, we are confident your Brescia education will provide you with the tools you need to lead in a way that is unique to you.

Colleen M. Hanycz, Ph.D.
Principal, Brescia University College

"Above all, the Brescia experience produces the most valuable of assets: a mind open to the new and different."
Dr. Paul Barker
Associate Professor, Political Science and Leadership

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03

"Above all, the Brescia experience produces the most valuable of assets: a mind open to the new and different."

Dr. Paul Barker
Associate Professor, Political Science and Leadership

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03

"Above all, the Brescia experience produces the most valuable of assets: a mind open to the new and different."

Dr. Paul Barker
Associate Professor, Political Science and Leadership

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03

"Above all, the Brescia experience produces the most valuable of assets: a mind open to the new and different."

Dr. Paul Barker
Associate Professor, Political Science and Leadership

"For 90 years, Leadership has been central to Brescia’s mission. What do I mean by Leadership? I’ll start with what I think Leadership isn’t. It isn’t about your personality. It isn’t about the ability to speak in front of large crowds of people. Leadership isn’t limited to politicians or heads of huge corporations. At Brescia, we believe Leadership is about examining the world around you and choosing to take steps to make it a better place—in your home, in your workplace, in your community. I believe the best thing we can offer at Brescia is the opportunity to choose, practise, and embrace Leadership as you move forward into the world."

Jessica McPherson, MD
Honors Bachelor of Arts, French Language and Literature '03
Q: How did Brescia prepare you for your work in the food industry?
A: Brescia provided an education rich in knowledge. The professional development series increased my awareness of different jobs in the field of nutrition and taught me important skills to take forward in my career.

Q: How did Brescia prepare you for leadership?
A: Brescia created a safe environment where one can develop and further her leadership skills.

Q: What will you always remember about Brescia?
A: Brescia provided an education rich in knowledge. The professional development series increased my awareness of different jobs in the field of nutrition and taught me important skills to take forward in my career.

Q: How did Brescia prepare you for your current role?
A: I call on leadership skills as a woman in the workforce, the willingness to take risks, confidence, public speaking, and last but not least, knowledge.

Q: What Brescia-developed strengths do you call on in your current life?
A: I call on leadership skills as a woman in the workforce, the willingness to take risks, confidence, public speaking, and last but not least, knowledge.

Q: How was your Brescia education bold?
A: We were challenged to think like a leader and use what we learned to make the world better.

Q: What will you always remember from your time at Brescia?
A: Brescia created a safe environment where one can develop and further her leadership skills.

Q: How did Brescia prepare you for starting your own company, Nutrition Rx?
A: I call on leadership skills as a woman in the workforce, the willingness to take risks, confidence, public speaking, and last but not least, knowledge.

Q: How was your Brescia education bold?
A: We were challenged to think like a leader and use what we learned to make the world better.

Q: What will you always remember from your time at Brescia as an undergraduate?
A: I will never forget my first day at Brescia. We began our registration and they said, “Alright, you must be Jennifer.” They were so warm and welcoming. I know I would live at Brescia.

Q: What Brescia-developed strengths do you call on in your current life?
A: I call on leadership skills as a woman in the workforce, the willingness to take risks, confidence, public speaking, and last but not least, knowledge.

Q: How did Brescia prepare you for your current role?
A: I call on leadership skills as a woman in the workforce, the willingness to take risks, confidence, public speaking, and last but not least, knowledge.

Q: How was your Brescia education bold?
A: We were challenged to think like a leader and use what we learned to make the world better.

Q: What will you always remember from your time at Brescia as an undergraduate?
A: I will never forget my first day at Brescia. We began our registration and they said, “Alright, you must be Jennifer.” They were so warm and welcoming. I know I would live at Brescia.

Q: How did Brescia prepare you for your current role?
A: I call on leadership skills as a woman in the workforce, the willingness to take risks, confidence, public speaking, and last but not least, knowledge.

Q: What Brescia-developed strengths do you call on in your current life?
A: I call on leadership skills as a woman in the workforce, the willingness to take risks, confidence, public speaking, and last but not least, knowledge.

Q: How was your Brescia education bold?
A: We were challenged to think like a leader and use what we learned to make the world better.