

EMAIL SENT SEPTEMBER 4, 2018

Dear Students,

Many of you may be wondering as you arrive on campus what we've been up to over the summer months, particularly behind the library where you will notice significant construction underway, just off of Brescia Lane. As we formally announced last January, Brescia will open a new state-of-the-art Academic Pavilion in the Fall of 2019 that will house new food labs, sensory and research laboratories, multi-tiered classrooms, an active learning classroom, an expansive student lounge and a community gathering space. This space has been designed to meet the ongoing learning, teaching and research needs of our students, faculty and staff and it's an exciting milestone for Brescia.

Over the course of the next year, you will receive ongoing updates as to the progress of this exciting initiative. For now, we ask that you take caution on campus and remain outside of the cautionary fencing that has been placed around the exterior of the construction site. With safety on campus remaining a top priority at Brescia we have had to re-locate our accessible parking spaces to the upper parking lot, just outside of the Mother St. James Building; please note that a few additional accessible parking spots have been added to that lot.

To learn more about the latest chapter in our story, and to view images of what the Academic Pavilion will look like upon completion, visit our website.

Marianne