12:00 p.m.

Late yesterday a decision was made to move all testing, including final exams, to an online format.

Brescia is following Western's decision; the implications are such that students will not be required to return to campus for the final exam period. Details concerning alternative testing formats will be shared as soon as they become available.

While some students may choose to return to their home communities, at this time, Brescia's campus and support services will remain operational. This includes our residence and dining facilities, where many of our students may decide to complete their term on campus.

We recognize this is a highly stressful period of time for you. Brescia's staff and faculty remain engaged in supporting each of our students through the completion of this academic term.

Sincerely,

Susan Mumm, D. Phil, FRHistS
